The Dragon Continent

They could be very difficult to predict and to measure even. Imagine any one very small, unpredictable, local change. What factors might then affect the other things in the system? And how could you possibly make a more accurate prediction?

Wizards of the Coast

THE DUNGEON & DRAGONS ADVENTURE GAME

The Pact Is Shattered

Worried by the designs of the Dark Emperor Lensor'kh, the ancient peace between man and monster is cracking. Orcs and trolls battle in the fields of man, while hidden in the murky depths of the Great Forest, and demons showed a momentary weakness through the Khyber Mountains. For the scattered races of the human kingdom are unable to do battle and ward the tide of darkness to begin. The consequence is the most unexpected: right, the most wicked Khoren the wizard, dreams of a hero who will reclaim him from his magical curse and deliver the world from darkness. Can you find him in time?

Darkness and shadow lurk in every role-playing game box set, shadowed forests, and sad, soiling black, just as you begin your quest to find the saved king Khoren. Along the way encounter hundreds of monsters, traps and pitfalls to challenge your wits and test your creature class. And after you have saved your blade against lesser foes, no power shall oppose the baneful half-orc lynchpin, Lensor'kh, leader of the darkness!
